New Move Brings Hope to Radical Defenders

JUDGE TO DECIDE SACCO-VANZETTI PETITIONS TODAY

Thayer Takes Under Advisement Plea for Revocation of Sentence and Execution Stay.

ALL OTHER MOVES ARE TURNED DOWN

Two Judges Decide Adversely on Petitions for Habeas Corpus and For New Trial.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE TO TAKE NO ACTION

Rapid City, S. D., August 8 (AP)—No eleventh-hour action can be expected from President Coolidge in the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

There was some question that the appeal for executive intervention, said to have been sent from Boston today, had actually reached Rapid City, but it was said that even so, the appeal would be transmitted to the department of justice.

Coolidge previously let it be known that he considered the case entirely a matter for the Massachusetts courts.

Boston, August 8.—(AP)—Hope rose in the ranks defending Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti early tonight when a day of legal failure to obtain a stop order on their scheduled electrocution for murder at Charlestown this week was capped by Judge Webster Thayer's decision to take under advisement a petition for revocation of sentence and a stay of execution. Sitting on the same bench in the Norfolk county superior courthouse where the men were tried and convicted six years ago of the murder of a paymaster and his guard in South Braintree, the aged Judge Thayer refused for the second time in the history of the long case to grant a new trial on grounds of newly discovered evidence, but consented to consider a surprise move on the part of the defense made in the form of a petition for a revocation of sentence and a stay of execution.

File Decision Today.
After a conference with defense and prosecuting attorneys which lasted nearly two hours, Judge Thayer announced that his decision on the revocation plea and the stay would be filed with the clerk of court tomorrow morning.

Developments at Dedham, which threw an entirely new angle on the last ditch fight to save Sacco and Vanzetti from the chair for at least another 24 hours, followed by half a day failure in every respect by defense counsel to delay execution through appeals to the Massachusetts supreme court.

Arthur D. Hill, chief defense counsel, who entered the case last week after Governor Fuller's adverse decision.

King Cotton, With $10 Bale Increase, Brings Prosperity

Business Leaders Foresee Era of Plenty for Planters of Georgia as Rise Is Announced.

SHORT CROP REPORT CAUSE OF BIG JUMP

Mississippi Floods Held Responsible for Condition; Georgia Methods Termed Economical.

That Atlanta and Georgia are facing an era of striking prosperity, is the import of optimistic statements issued by leading Atlanta business men following the announcement Monday of the sensational rise in the price of cotton of $10 per bale. The advance which came suddenly after the government report of a prospective short crop, will bring a wave of comparative wealth to planters, the observers believe.

While the total cotton yield in Georgia is expected to be considerably short of that of 1926, Georgia farmers planted 344,000 acres used for cotton in 1926 in something else this year and the 1927 price is expected to far exceed that of 1926.

Robert F. Maddox, chairman of the board of directors of the Atlanta and Lowry National Bank believes "Georgia farmers will have more money this fall than at any time in several years past."

"The production of cotton this year has been on a more economical basis than at any time within the past ten years. While the farmer may not produce as many bales as he has in the past year or two, he will get a great deal better price than he did last year."

"Of course, there is every reason to believe that the cotton price will continue to climb for some time. Reports of a serious boll-weevil infestation continue, but even that may not serve as a check to a greater amount of money pouring in to Georgia farmers. I look for much greater prosperity this fall."

Ivan Allen, head of the Forward Atlanta campaign, is also of the opinion that the "outlook is bright for Georgia, and therefore for Atlanta."

"It is an ill-wind that blows no body," says Mr. Allen, "and while one naturally hates to reap an advantage through misfortune to some one else, there is no eluding the fact that the Mississippi flood with its attendant damage to Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana cotton crops was the turning point in favor of other southern states, including Georgia."

"Since then, boll weevil and other things have combined to produce even more favorable conditions for Georgia."

12 NEW CRUISERS WILL BE ORDERED BY UNITED STATES

British Naval Program Is Said To Have Caused Increase in Number for America.

Rapid City, S. D., August 8.—(United News)—Republican party leaders are reconciled to the necessity of building up the navy to proportions they believe to be required for national safety, the United News learned from administration sources Monday.

It is said reliably that the present program for eight additional 10,000-ton cruisers will be enlarged to include an additional four of that size. This plan follows directly upon failure of the Geneva naval limitation conference.

Republican leaders point out that at Geneva American delegates were convinced Great Britain intends to increase her cruiser strength, already greater than that of the United States.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur arrived at Custer today and was taken to the state game lodge for a conference with President Coolidge on the naval building program contemplated in view of the failure at Geneva.

Wilbur refused a statement pending his talk with the president.

It is made plain by officials here that this country has no intention of entering into a competitive naval-building race with Great Britain or any other country, but it is also made clear that steps must be taken to assure adequate naval protection.

Wilbur is expected to remain for several days. On Tuesday Secretary of the Interior Work is to arrive to confer on the proposal to place the administration of the Philippine islands under his department, rather than permit it to continue under the war department.

PERSHING DENIES INTEREST IN RACE FOR PRESIDENCY

Chicago, August 8.—(AP)—General John J. Pershing characterized himself as "only a private citizen, a little tired after an active life" in dismissing political questions during a stop-over enroute to his farm in Wyoming today.

"Presidential aspirants do not disturb me," General Pershing told reporters in denying that he was enroute to South Dakota for a conference with President Coolidge. "I intend to spend the summer on my Wyoming farm and see how good my son is pitching hay."

General Pershing eulogized Major General Leonard Wood, declaring that he had served with "an unselfish devotion that is rarely found. General Wood's death is an inestimable loss to our country," he added, "I am sorry indeed that I cannot be one of those to do honor to that great soldier at Washington."

Lindy Refuses Wedding Bells To Play Role Climax Kiss Of 'Tin Saint'

Aviator Smokes Cigarette as Protest Against Circulars.

Cincinnati, Ohio, August 8.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, during the dinner given in his honor here Saturday night, smoked a cigarette and though hundreds of persons saw him do it no one saw anything unusual in it until today.

The smoking was said to have been the outcome of an incident in which Lindbergh told his "pal," Phillip Love, "I won't be played for a tin saint."

He was said to have told Love that a national women's organization is sending out circulars calling on the young men of the country "to follow Lindbergh's example and abstain from smoking cigarettes."

"She Saved My Life When I Was Critically Ill," Says Groom.

(By Leased Wire to the Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Camden, N. J., August 8.—A romance that started with a stolen kiss 33 years ago climaxed in the marriage here Monday afternoon of James C. Angus, 86, and Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, 72, after their elopement from New York.

"I didn't want my friend, Mayor Jimmy Walker, of New York city, and on boys around New York city hall to kid me, so we slipped down here," explained the grizzled civil war veteran. "I stole a kiss from Lizzie in a garden when we first met at the home of a mutual friend in New York, in 1874. And we were loved each other ever since. We both got married to somebody else—after that, and didn't meet again until a few years ago when we had both been widowed. She saved my life by nursing me through a critical illness, so now we'll spend the rest of our days together."

They were married by Rev. Martin B. Guice, of St. George's M. E. church, at the home of the bride's niece, Mrs. Catherine Goodrich.

Atlantans May See Redfern Plane Wednesday in Flight From Brunswick

Upper picture shows "Port of Brunswick" resting on the beach at Brunswick after Paul Redfern made his non-stop flight in it from Detroit. In lower left Redfern explains the mysteries of the earth inductor to Paul J. Varner, chairman of the Brunswick flight committee. This little instrument will guide the flier over the wastes of water and jungles in his flight to Brazil from Brunswick. Lower right shows Redfern and Billy Alexander, of St. Augustine, making a thorough inspection of the plane after the 900-mile trip from Michigan.

FORTUNE FAVORS AVIATOR GRIFFIN

Oklahoma Flier Wins Right To Takeoff First in $35,000 Air Derby to Honolulu.

San Francisco, August 8.—(AP)—Fortune favored Bennett Griffin, Bartlesville, Okla., aviator, today when he drew No. 1 position entitling him to first takeoff in the $35,000 air derby to Honolulu next Friday.

The drawing, conducted at the office of Captain C. W. Saunders, California director of the National Aeronautic association, marked the first meeting of eight pilots who have navigators and representatives of other entrants whose planes are reported headed towards local airports.

A last-minute interpretation of the drawing rules by the committee gave fliers more time in which to name their take-off places. Late today nine pilots had decided to take off from Oakland airport; two selected Mills field, San Francisco, and four were undecided.

Field Lineup.

The drawing order and field lineup was fixed as follows tonight, subject to a change by the entrants:

1. Major Livingston Irving, Berkeley, Calif.
2. John W. Frost, San Francisco Examiner entry.
3. Bennett Griffin, of Bartlesville, Okla.
4. Lieutenant Norman Goddard, San Diego.
5. Charles W. Parkhurst, Lomax, Ill.
6. John A. Pedlar and Miss Mildred Doran, Detroit.
7. Captain William Erwin, of Dallas, Texas.
8. Frederick A. Giles, of Detroit, Mich.
9. Arthur C. Goebel, Hollywood stunt flier.
10. Frank Clarke, Hollywood.
11. Captain A. V. Rodger, Los Angeles.

Undecided.

1. Robert G. Fowler, San Francisco.
2. Marton Lensen, Honolulu.
3. Lieutenant George Coyell, San Diego.
4. Captain J. L. Giffie.

Will Inspect Planes.

With eight planes on the ground here and others reported heading to San Francisco, department of commerce inspectors announced that they would inspect the planes before they were flown.

Trip to Capital City Depends Upon Condition of Candler Field, Aviator Announces.

The Brunswick-Brazil "ambassador" became an apprentice Mason tonight when he took the first degree of Masonry, conferred upon him by the Atlantic lodge here. Following the initiation ceremonies, Redfern was the guest of the Brunswick Masons at an informal reception.

Brunswick, Ga., August 8.—(AP)—Paul Redfern, local aviator who expects to fly soon from Brunswick to Brazil, will fly to Atlanta Wednesday, provided Candler field is in such condition that his plane the "Port of Brunswick" can make a safe landing, it was stated tonight by his land.

Because of a peculiarity in the landing gear, the wheels being set twelve inches to the rear, in order to enable the plane to take off more easily, a half mile run-way upon which to alight is necessary to make landing desirable. A long run-way or field is necessary, it was pointed out, because the Redfern plane is not equipped with brakes.

Redfern, who hopes to be the first aviator to hop from the United States to Brazil without stop, is ready to take to the air so far as his newly created monoplane is concerned, the aviator announced today.

To Seek Record.

Redfern, who hopes to establish a new distance record in the flight and possibly set up a new endurance mark, made a test flight this morning, in which he succeeded in taking off from the sandy beach within 20 seconds after contact. He remained aloft some 25 minutes, during which he circled several times above the city. Great throngs gathered below cheered him as he flew above them.

The flier declared that the weight tests conducted before he left Detroit had proved so successful that additional tests were unnecessary.

"Just as soon as we can establish contact with the weather bureau to the south, and are certain that no serious atmospheric disturbances are prevailing in that section, I am ready to leave for Brazil," Redfern says. He added that factory experts were expected here tomorrow to make a final inspection of the Wright whirlwind motor, with which the plane is equipped, and after that his departure for South America will depend entirely upon weather conditions. If Redfern makes the flight to Atlanta he plans to leave here at 9 a. m. eastern time, arriving in Atlanta approximately three hours later. Two Brunswick city officials will accompany him, it was said.

RELIGIOUS PEACE SEEN IN MEXICO

Deported Catholic Prelates May Be Allowed to Return, Mexico City Paper Says.

Mexico City, August 8.—(AP)—The newspaper Excelsior says it has received information that it is possible there may be in prospect an adjustment of the religious controversy between the Mexican government and the Catholic church which resulted in the new religious regulations a year ago. The paper also says it learns it is possible that the Catholic archbishops and bishops who were deported from Mexico after the Guadalupe train outrage, several months ago, may be permitted to return to Mexico.

The outrage to which reference is made occurred in April, when outlaws attacked a passenger train. They slaughtered the military escort, set the train on fire and shot some of the passengers as they tried to escape. The Mexican authorities charged that members of the Mexican episcopate engineered this attack and a number of archbishops and bishops were deported.

Foreign Minister Saenz, who is General Obregon's campaign manager, in the presidential contest, has been at San Antonio, Texas, where, it is reported here, he conferred with the banished Mexican prelates. The Excelsior expresses the opinion that this conference possibly was for the purpose of paving the way for the return of the prelates and says that it may even lead to a settlement of the stalemate in the religious controversy which resulted in the suspension of services conducted by priests in the churches.

Archbishop Mora del Rio, of Mexico City, and other leading figures in the Catholic episcopate of Mexico, who were deported after the Guadalupe train attack, denied the government's charge that they were responsible for the so-called Catholic revolution. President Calles recently ordered the release from prison of all the Catholic laymen charged with sedition. He announced as his reason for the releases that the Catholic revolution had ended. The opinion is expressed by some political observers that if the government intends to permit the prelates to return to Mexico it can use the same reason as in the case of the release of the laymen.

VICTIM WOUNDED IN THREE PLACES EXPECTED TO LIVE

Letter Found in Dead Man's Room Reveals Jealousy as Motive For Attempted Slaying.

GIRL AND MOTHER WITNESS SHOOTING

Slayer Dodges Into Alleyway When Chase Begins and Sends Bullet Through His Head.

Spurned love and the resultant jealous fury added another victim to its list shortly after 9:30 Monday night when Horace Boyd, 21, a driver for the Dixie Dairy company, shot Murphy Nelson, another employee of the dairy company, and then sent a bullet through his own head, dying instantly. Nelson will live.

The shooting took place on Garnett street between Pryor and Central avenue—and involved, unwillingly, a 16-year-old schoolgirl and the girl's mother. They were Mary and Mrs. Maggie Tackette, of 245 Central avenue.

A scrawled letter, written by Boyd to an unknown person and found on a writing table in his dreary room in a Pryor street boarding house, told police why the shooting occurred. An excerpt from the letter read: "Mary is my girl and nobody else is going to take her away from me." And then: "So this is where your girl is going to hell with me!"

Boyd, a distant cousin of Mrs. Tackette and the girl, had come to Atlanta a year ago from his home in Griffin, Ga., and had taken a room with his relatives. Luther Tackette, a son, assisted in obtaining for Boyd a position with the dairy company, where Luther worked.

Then Boyd started drinking liquor. Two weeks ago, Mrs. Tackette ordered him out of her house, primarily, she told police, because he was drinking too heavily and secondarily because he was attempting to force his attentions upon her daughter, Mary. Boyd left, muttering threats, and obtained a room at 270 South Pryor—two blocks "around the corner."

Then commenced numerous advances by the spurned lover and further scorn by the girl. This terminated Monday night in tragedy. Mrs. Tackette and Mary had called at the dairy plant to see their son and brother. Although their home was located only one block away, they were afraid to go home without male escort. But Luther was working.

Murphy Nelson stepped forth. "Why I'd be glad to walk along with you," he said. "It won't be any trouble at all."

The three had reached within 100 yards of the house when Mrs. Tackette thanked him and said she would not be afraid to go the balance of the way alone. Nelson turned back. As he did so, a figure darted from across the street and toward the driver. It was Boyd. As he drew near Nelson

LUCAS REFUSES TO ACCEPT DEFEAT

Louisville, August 8.—(AP)—Robert H. Lucas, candidate for the republican nomination for governor, continued tonight to refuse to concede the success of his opponent, Judge Flem D. Sampson, at the polls in Saturday's primary election.

Carter Stamps, Lucas' campaign manager, said returns from certain counties as reported to the press were erroneous. He cited the returns from Kenton, Harlan, Rowan and Rockcastle counties.

Returns from the minor races continued to come in slowly and with approximately one-fourth of the counties unreported, mostly in the mountain districts, James Breathitt, Jr., of Hopkinsville, was leading Albert H. Barker, of Falmouth, by a small plurality for the democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

Miss Ella Lewis had a comfortable lead in the race for secretary of state. Clall Coleman, was leading John A. Goodman, of Elkton, by more than 25,000 votes, and Mrs. Emma Guy Cronwell was in front of Albert Phillips for treasurer.

Judge J. W. Cammack, of Owenton, was leading Charles F. Creal, present assistant attorney general, in the race for attorney general, by 8,000 votes. Bailey P. Wootton, of Hazard, was 3,000 behind Creal.

W. E. O'Connell, Carl P. King, and J. E. Wagers were running fairly close for clerk of court of appeal, with O'Connell in the lead by 3,000. Newton Bright, Eminence, for com-

THIEVES OVERLOOK $1700 IN DIAMONDS AND STEAL $15

Although they were within two inches of two diamond brooches valued at $1,700, burglars Monday night while ransacking the home of Mrs. L. H. Dehl, at 882 Ponce de Leon avenue, overlooked the valuables and escaped with only $15 in currency, according to police reports.

Members of the family were away at the time of the burglary, but when they returned the house bore evidence of having been visited by burglars and the money was missing.

Entrance was gained by jimmying a side window. Call Officers F. C. Foster and S. L. Gurley were told. E. B. Canton, of 61 Glenn street, S. W., reported to detectives Monday morning that he had been held up by two negroes at his home and robbed of $20.

STONE MOUNTAIN PARK BILL HEARING TONIGHT

The bill proposing to create a state park at the foot of Stone Mountain will be given a public hearing at 8 o'clock tonight at the Henry Grady hotel by the senate committee on public property, of which Senator James H. Boykin, of the 20th district, is chairman. The meeting was to have been held Monday afternoon in the senate chamber, but was postponed because the senate has started afternoon sessions.

WHITEHALL PAVING PROJECT UP TODAY

Thomas H. McCrea, vice president of the Nunnally-McCrea company and recently appointed special agent of the city of Atlanta to secure a right-of-way for widening and repaving of Whitehall street from the intersection of Forsyth street to Stewart avenue, Monday called a special meeting of a committee of property owners along the route to consider plans for the project. The session will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at the office of Dr. E. O. Collum, 358 Whitehall street.

Fulton county has agreed to prosecute the work to an early completion if the right-of-way is secured, and Dr. McCrea and his colleagues are attempting to secure an additional 20 feet in order to make the stretch a boulevard from the relief of congested traffic in the area it serves as well as along the route.

Plans already have been evolved to convert five feet of the 10-foot sidewalk on each side of the street for road purposes and the city has agreed to this, but the property owners feel that the 10-foot sidewalk is necessary on account of the importance of Whitehall street as a business district and also have demurred to widening the street only five feet on either side. They held this to be inadequate, and the revised plan to widen the street 20 feet and retain the 10-foot wide sidewalks is a program which the citizens and property owners along the route of the proposed improvement have advanced. They are engaged in working out details of the plan.

3 RADIO PRINCIPLES AWAITING DECISION

Phonograph Music To Be Announced

Washington, August 8.—(AP)—Radio broadcasting stations which transmit phonograph music after August 21 must announce with each machine record the fact that mechanical music is being sent out, under a general order of the Federal Radio commission today.

"While the broadcasting of music through the agency of mechanical reproduction is not in itself objectionable," the commission order declared, "the failure clearly to announce the nature of such broadcasting is in some instances working what is in effect a fraud upon the listening public."

Washington, August 8.—(AP)—Three principles of the new federal system of regulating radio broadcasting must be laid down in controversies now awaiting decisions of precedent before the federal radio commission.

The first issue, evidence upon which will be presented more fully to the commission this week, relates to the application of station WIOG at Bridgeport, Conn., which has sought to move its apparatus from congested city territory to a suburban area, but has met the complaint of the residents of the territory where it seeks to locate. The property owners have pending before the commission the complaint that a radio station is a nuisance which they desire to have the commission abate.

The commission's finding is expected to seriously affect the status of all the large broadcasting stations which may encounter local objection to their operation.

The second issue relates to the contention of station WFBM at Indianapolis that Indiana is without first-class radio facilities and that the station therefore is entitled to increased power rating.

The other question concerns direct radio advertising. Station KMA at Shennandoah, Iowa, operated by a large business establishment with the cooperation of other business enterprises, is seeking to divide time on a better wave assignment with station WSUR, of Iowa university, and which is protesting that educational utilities have a higher value to the public than an advertising enterprise.

20 ARE INJURED IN N. J. CYCLONE

West Berlin, N. J., August 8.—(United News).—More than 20 persons were injured, 100 made homeless and approximately $200,000 damage done by a small cyclone which struck this town between 8:30 and 9 p. m. tonight.

State troopers from the Berlin barracks were rushed to the scene and gave first aid to the injured. Neighbors are caring for the homeless.

The "twister" lasted about 20 minutes, tearing the roofs from houses, flattening frame dwellings, bursting open doors, smashing windows and blowing down trees and telephone poles.

Town In Panic.

West Berlin, with a population of approximately 300, was in a panic during the cyclone. Nearby towns of Berlin, Westmont and West Collingswood were hit by heavy winds about the same time, but did not suffer as badly as West Berlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kaska and their two sons, who were at dinner when the cyclone struck, were hurled about as their house was demolished. One of the sons, Adolph, was thrown half through a window. Kaska suffered severe injuries to his head when he was thrown across the room.

Albert Maxawitz's nine children, who were playing on the second floor of their home, were dropped to the first floor when part of the house was torn away. None was seriously injured.

EX-PASTOR CAUSES KLANSMEN ARRESTS

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Camden, N. J., August 8.—Charged with making criminally libelous statements against, and threatening the life of the Rev. Wilbert W. McClain, mechanic and ex-pastor of the Atco Undenominational church, two leaders of the Atco Ku Klux Klan, Clarence Simkins, Sr., and William A. Jones, were arrested when they returned home from work this afternoon.

Before Justice of the Peace Wallace here, McClain testified Simkins had said the pastor was "an advocate of free love and of a strange religion with himself as a sort of messiah." Simkins was held in $1,000 bail for the grand jury.

Jones threatened the clergyman's life after he had a "vision in a dream" in which the pastor was depicted as luring Mrs. Jones from her husband in a circus tent. McClain testified, and Jones was held in $500 bail.

The warrants for their arrest followed burning of a cross in front of McClain's house and K. K. K. notes warning the preacher to be silent, shortly after McClain was forced out

CHASTAIN IS HELD IN DAWSON JAIL IN CHAMPION DEATH

Dawsonville, Ga., August 8.—(Special).—Ed Chastain, 17, is being held in the Dawson county jail on suspicion in connection with the death of Will Champion near Dawsonville Saturday night. The arrest of Chastain was ordered after a coroner's inquest was held and he was captured at Corinth church, in Pickens county Sunday night.

Champion died after being discovered wounded in a wagon in a garage near here, the wounds having been inflicted with an ax, it was claimed. Champion and Chastain worked on the same farm.

U. S. Scholars To Excavate Greek Market

Athens, August 8.—(United News).—Excavation of the ancient Athenian market place, directly south of the Acropolis, was authorized formally Monday by an agreement signed between government authorities and the American School of Classical Studies. Five hundred houses must be demolished, and 10,000 people moved to another part of the city, to permit the excavations, due to start in 1928. Professor Edward Capps, professor of classics at Princeton and chairman of the American Classical School, will direct the excavations in cooperation with Greek archaeologists. Important discoveries are hoped for.

OPPORTUNE CATCH LEADS TO ARREST OF TWO NEGROES

An opportunity to seize five one-gallon cans of liquor, that had been thrown from a speeding rum laden automobile, resulted in the arrest of Ella Mae Mitchell, of 9 Maher street, and Will Nealous, of 602 West Fair street, both negroes, on charges of violation of the prohibition laws, late Monday night.

The negroes were arrested by Patrolmen A. F. Duncan and Oscar Tyson, who had been chasing a rum laden car but were forced to abandon their mile chase due to dense clouds of smoke, cut loose by the rum car which escaped.

Just as the officer's were slowing down their car they heard a sack of cans hit the pavement and learned that the two negroes picked them up and ran into a house, officers said. The negroes denied knowledge of the rum being transported and stated they were bystanders and saw a rare opportunity to get some good liquor.

TWO MORE SESSIONS ON APPROPRIATIONS

The requirements of the Smith-Hughes act of congress. The sum with which Georgia would match this federal aid under the amendment adopted would be $125,000 in 1928 and $150,000 in 1929 instead of $300,000 for each of the two years as the bill originally provided.

Maintenance funds of the state board of health were raised from approximately $80,000 to $110,000 annually by an amendment offered by Representative Westbrooke, of Dougherty, and passed by the house.

Following the night session, the house committee on constitutional amendments voted to recommend favorably the bill sponsored by Senator Burghin and passed by the upper body to take local legislation out of the hands of the legislature and pass it on to the counties, municipalities and other political subdivisions. Under the bill, some future legislature would devise a plan whereby the individual political units would pass their own legislation.

RULES COMMITTEE TO TAKE CHARGE

With a speedy grind of at least two between a majority of that body and days ahead of the house of representatives to dispose of the appropriations bill the rules committee of that body plans to take charge of the calendar immediately after consideration of this measure is finished and in all probability that committee will call up for passage as the first bill on its revised calendar the measures providing for a virtual reorganization of the state department of agriculture. This course of action was outlined Monday by Representative Wilhoit, of Warren, who announced he would call the rules committee together as soon as it was seen that the work on the appropriations bill was nearing a conclusion.

Passage of the general tax act by a vote of 133 to 35 was one of the outstanding features of the house session Monday. Those who opposed the measure stated on the floor that they did not oppose it in its entirety but opposed certain features of it, hence they would vote against the whole bill. After the bill was passed Representative Bloch, of Bibb, announced he would introduce a sales tax bill in the house as a substitute for that section of the general tax act covering luxury taxes. The sales tax was defeated last week when offered as an amendment to the general tax act.

Highway Deadlock

Interest in the senate Monday centered around the deadlock which exists

Governor L. G. Hardman over the appointment of a successor to John N. Holder, chairman of the state highway board. The governor kept the name of Captain J. W. Barnett, of Athens, as his nominee for the post but the senate declined to confirm him, referring the matter to the committee on privileges and elections with instructions to return a report in ten days. This move indicated that the deadlock would continue until the last day of the session unless some unexpected development comes.

Creation of a commission to study the sales tax systems used in other states and in Canada was approved by the appropriations committee at a meeting held Monday afternoon. It was announced by Chairman Culpepper, a bill providing for such a commission was given a favorable report. The commission is to be composed of the state auditor, two members of the house, two members of the senate and one member from the state at large to be appointed by the governor.

Postponement of a hearing on the omnibus charter bill of the city of Atlanta until Tuesday afternoon was announced Monday by Representative Kempton, of Fulton. The postponement was granted so that both sides of the question could be presented before the committee. The charter changes relate to the school management of Atlanta.

Committee Defers Action

The house highways committee held a meeting Monday afternoon to discuss provisions of the Thompson highway bill which has been passed by the senate, but deferred action on the measure until after the general session. This bill provides for the establishment of a state highway system of 7,200 miles.

Former Governor John M. Slaton extended an invitation to the members of the legislature, legislative attaches and newspapermen to attend a barbecue he will give in honor of the assembly at Lakewood park at 1 o'clock Thursday, August 11. The invitation was accepted.

The house and senate have also accepted invitations to attend the centennial celebration to be staged in Carrollton, October 20 to 22, in honor of the one-hundredth anniversary of the creation of Carroll county. The invitation was extended by Representative Smith and Beck, of Carroll county.

To Mayor Ragsdale And All City Officials Concerned

You have evaded the issue and failed to explain why cast iron traffic signals are purchased at 25 cents per pound whereas city only pays 2.7 cents per pound for manhole and other city iron castings, while iron signals of different type not infringing on patents, serving same purpose, equally or better, can be had for a fifth the price paid, namely $12.50 each with only $4.00 going to local maker. City could have saved $15,004 purchasing other designs made locally patronizing home industry. Taxpayers want explanation not that finance committee did this, but why the irregular course and why competitive bids were not asked for as required by law.

Work of considering the appropriations bill, item by item, began Monday morning and it is expected that consideration of the measure will not be finished until Wednesday.

The house Monday passed a bill which provides a pension system for county employees similar to the system used by the city of Atlanta. The measure was supported by the members of the Fulton delegation.

Representative Culpepper, of Fayette, urged passage of the bill, stating that the end of the session was near and that the revenue incorporated in the measure was essential to the welfare of the state and its institutions. Many members explained their vote for the bill during the roll call, stating that they objected to certain taxes and certain provisions of the bill, but that they supported the measure as a whole.

The only deduction of the appropriation measure made during its early consideration was a cut of the public printing appropriation from $30,000 a year to $25,000 a year.

Morning, afternoon and night sessions will be held by the house of representatives until the general session. Appropriations act has been completely considered, it was decided as that body began its task of matching the state's expenditures for the next two years with its revenues over the same period. Motion for three sessions a day was made by Representative Wilhoit, of Warren, and after speeches in its favor by Wright, of Floyd, and Culpepper, of Fayette, it was ordered by unanimous consent.

The appropriations measure was first on the calendar Monday. Representative Doyal, chairman of the committee which framed it, told the house that all the new revenue in the bill would be required by the appropriation bill as it left the committee.

Senate Passes Six Bills. Setting down to real business after the wheels of the senate mill for the heavy task that confronts it during the closing two weeks of regular session, the upper chamber turned out six bills from the time it reconvened for the afternoon session Monday.

The bill introduced by Senator Gaston, 20th district, providing for raising the salary of the secretary of the state prison commission from $2,500 to $3,000 per year, was passed.

Another measure passed by the senate amends the insurance department act enabling companies to issue certain policies without requiring a physical examination of the candidates for insurance. Senators Bullard, 36th; Key, 28th, and Lester, 34th, are joint authors of the bill.

Another bill amending the code so that street railway corporations may lease or sell roads, franchises, or other properties, to different corporations that have been chartered under laws of the state, was among those acted on Monday. The measure was by Senator Myrick, of the 1st, and applies to gas and electric light corporations as well as street railways. It contains a section designed to prevent monopolies through misconstruction of the measure.

Prison Farm Increases. A bill amending the present law fixing salaries of state prison farm officials was passed Monday for a salary of $2,500 for superintendent, $1,800 for physician and warden and $1,500 for bookkeeper. The author was Senator Gaston, of the 20th.

The condemnation bill introduced by Senator Richards, of the 45th, which created a deluge of debate on the floor, would amend the act of 1925 authorizing corporations or individuals to condemn public road or other properties for water power developments. The 1925 act is said to be defective in that it did not name the person on which condemnation proceedings would have to be served. Senator Richards' bill provides that the public highway commission be notified in case of state roads and that the counties be notified where the road is a county highway.

Senator Stovall, 30th, introduced a substitute measure that would protect small companies generating power, such as grist mills, from being condemned by larger companies from outside the state. Two amendments were introduced by Senator Peoples for the purpose of strengthening the original bill. Another amendment introduced by the committee provides that the company instituting condemnation proceedings that would do away with a public highway must construct a new road-way before the original one is destroyed.

In recommitting the bill to judiciary committee No. 1, the committee was instructed to report its recommendations back to the senate today.

Pass Grade Crossing Elimination. In the third period before adjournment a tenth measure was passed by the senate as its work for the afternoon when unanimous approval was given to the grade-crossing elimination bill introduced by Senator Stovall.

It provided that, when in the judgment of the state highway department or county authorities, it becomes practicable to eliminate a grade crossing, the authorities shall proceed to do so by overpass, underpass or by relocation of the road or railway; or where advisable an automatic signaling device may be installed instead. The cost is to be shared by the state highway department and the railroad, where a state highway is involved, or by the railroad and county where a county road is involved. It provides further that any railroad crossing compelled to spend more than $40,000 per year for this purpose, or not more than $3,000 where the income of the railroad is not more than $2,000,000.

The rules committee of the senate will meet at 9 o'clock this morning to take over the regulation of the state business due to the short time remaining of the session and the large number of bills yet to be considered. From today on to the end of the session the daily calendar of bills to be called up for passage.

Government Property Jurisdiction. Exclusive jurisdiction over federal property in Georgia would be ceded to the United States government under one of five general bills which were passed in the senate Monday in the first session on a calendar dictated by the rules committee.

The rules committee took charge Monday for the last two weeks of the session. Senator Myrick, of the first district, said he was informed that no more land for federal buildings could be bought in Georgia by the government unless some such law was passed.

Under the other four measures passed counties which desire to do so might establish kindergartens in the public schools; political subdivisions other than municipalities might support public libraries; stricter regulation would be laid on shipments of hides through Georgia from territory infested with cattle ticks; the minimum number of directors for a corporation organized under laws of Georgia would be cut from 15 to five.

Criminal Reforms Introduced. A measure similar to the New York Baumes law and four other bills proposing drastic changes in Georgia's method of criminal procedure were introduced in the senate Monday.

Senator H. H. Elders, of Reidsville, made a new effort Monday to the question of a constitutional convention before the people in a referendum. The measure was introduced by Senator Kelly, of the 1st, and applied to gas and electric light corporations as well as street railways. It contains a section designed to prevent monopolies through misconstruction of the measure.

The kind of rubber in United States Tires has as much to do with their long service as the quantity. It is Sprayed Rubber. Sprayed Rubber is made from latex (rubber tree milk) by a mechanical process invented by the United States Rubber Company—without the use of smoke or chemicals. It is the purest, most uniform and strongest rubber known. Sprayed Rubber adds to the money's worth in U. S. Royal Cords.

UNITED STATES TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES

THERE are a dozen places in building a tire where a little rubber could be saved. An ounce here, another ounce there—but adding up to thousands of pounds in a year's production.

But the car owner can never tell when this skimping is going to cause him trouble. When he pays his money for a tire he wants to be sure it will stand unusual road conditions, and that the strain of sudden braking will not uncover a weak point. He wants to be sure he gets the full mileage to which he is entitled.

U. S. Royal Cords are built with the idea that every man who buys them should get all the mileage that can possibly be built into a tire.

The policy of "Plenty of Rubber" governs every operation in building U. S. Royal Cords. It puts plenty of rubber not only outside, where you can see it—but inside, too, where it does not show, but where the strain comes.

"Plenty of Rubber" proves its value in the final test—the service of U. S. Royal Cords on the wheels of your car.

Wealthy Radical Pays Fine To Escape Jail

ARRESTS ARE MADE IN TWO CITIES

Boston, August 8.—(AP)—Edward J. James, wealthy radical and Sacco-Vanzetti champion, tonight changed his mind about serving a 90-day jail sentence for inciting to riot and assaulting a policeman and paid a fine of $75 instead.

James was arrested during a Sacco-Vanzetti demonstration on the common yesterday. When arraigned in court today he refused to rise when the complaint was read, declared he refused to recognize the court's jurisdiction and declined to plead to charges lodged against him.

He was fined $200 on charges of inciting to riot and $25 on the assault complaint. He asked what the fine would total in prison sentence, and when informed it would be 90 days, elected the jail term. Several hours later, just before his removal from the prisoners' cage to jail, he notified the clerk he had changed his mind.

James is a nephew of the late professor William James, widely-known psychologist, and Henry James, novelist. He has come into prominence through his radical views at various times since his graduation from Harvard in 1906. He has been active in the Sacco-Vanzetti case for several years.

Several others arrested in connection with the Sacco-Vanzetti disturbances were fined today.

Leading Americans Urged To Keep Red Death Watch

SACCO-VANZETTI COMMITTEE ISSUES APPEAL

Boston, August 8.—(United News.) Leaders of American thought have been urged to keep a "red death watch" by the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee to come to Boston and join in a "peaceful demonstration" outside Charlestown state prison Wednesday night and Thursday morning when Sacco and Vanzetti are being executed.

Personal telegrams were sent today to prominent persons in the literary, scientific, educational and journalistic worlds asking them to be present and "watch solemnly the crucifixion of American justice at the cradle of liberty."

"For ten years American civil liberties have been trampled in the mud," the committee's press release said, "and justice in an 'unforgettable demonstration.' The ghosts of the Salem witch-burners are already stalking the streets of Boston. A new spirit must be born and infused into this fossilized commonwealth."

Among those asked to take part in the "death watch" were Jane Addams, of Hull House, Chicago; Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of "The Nation"; John Dewey, the philosopher; Heywood Brown, the columnist; Charles H. Beard, the historian; Lupton Sinclair, the author; Norman Thomas, the socialist leader; Arthur Garfield Hayes, the prominent liberal lawyer; H. L. Mencken, author and critic; and many leaders of organized labor, including President William Green and Frank Morrison, of the A. F. of L.

"Americans whose hearts rebel at the cry of injustice and whose blood throbs to the tune of humanity" are urged to join with the defense forces in an "unforgettable demonstration." Emphasis is placed by the defense committee on the peaceful nature of the protest. It is planned to congregate in front of the grim state prison and wait for the hour of execution.

ALIENS WARNED IN CASE OF REDS

Hoquiam, Wash., August 8.—(United News.)—Congressman Albert Johnson, of Washington, chairman of the house immigration committee, has issued a warning to aliens that "they are fair game to the government if they are found to be communists or anarchists." He said that "any alien who is found to be a communist or anarchist is liable to deportation" if they engage in undue protest against the scheduled execution of Sacco and Vanzetti.

Addressing his statement to native-born citizens, naturalized citizens, declarants and to all aliens who desire to remain domiciled in the United States, Representative Johnson said:

"Do not let your sympathies for wrong information away you as Sacco and Vanzetti, the Italian bandits and murderers, approach the day of their execution. Thursday, August 11. They also are anarchists and enemies of this government, but that fact has nothing to do with their conviction nor with their approaching execution. They should never have been admitted to the United States, and under the new immigration act, could not have been admitted."

The congressman expressed the belief that they had had a fair trial and continued:

"Demonstrations may go on in other lands. That is the affair of other governments. Foreign demonstrations can neither affect nor frighten the United States government nor that of any state."

"Aliens domiciled in this country should remember that if they participate in anti-government demonstrations here they end their chances for citizenship, which, now that it is harder to get, is more valuable than ever. Besides, they will be liable to deportation under the 1919 act which is among the most important statutes of the United States."

"Further, we hope soon to put through congress a law by which naturalized citizens who, after swearing allegiance to the United States, were found to be communists or anarchists or any other government, may be deprived of their naturalization."

"The time has come when such acquired citizenship should be used by radicals to the danger of this government."

MUSOLINI DENIES AMERICAN ATTACKS

Rome, August 8.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini today personally characterized as absolutely false reports sent abroad of alleged acts of violence against American citizens traveling in Italy as a sign of protest against the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti.

The premier said that no American tourists in Italy had been the object of hostile manifestations.

The reports also were denied this evening by other members of the government.

PRINCE OF WALES WILL BAR ADVISE

London, August 8.—(United News.) "It's up to him; if he makes up his mind to go, our advice won't make any difference," said officials Monday when asked if, in view of the Sacco-Vanzetti agitation, they would advise the Prince of Wales not to accept invitations to cross into the United States from Canada.

Moscow, August 8.—(AP)—Members of the Moscow sects of the Tolstoyans, Baptists, Dubobbers and Molokans have sent a cable to President Coolidge appealing for mercy for Sacco and Vanzetti in the name of Christianity.

official cognizance of the allegations of prejudice and bias directed against him by the condemned men and by their supporters. From the bench, after announcing his decision refusing the motion for a new trial, he defended his official conduct and denied any prejudice on his part. The record of the report as the defense would show what his conduct had been.

"We must be governed by the record," he said. "That I am to be judged by what I said, and what I did from the open to these cases, I am ready to be judged by. With reference to the question of prejudice, there is not any now and there never was at any time."

Alleged prejudice on the part of Judge Thayer by which counsel contended the two men were denied a fair trial was the principal basis of the defense plea. Attorney Hill argued the motion. Attorney General Arthur K. Reading opposed them as the state's representative.

In arguing the motion for a new trial, Attorney Hill declared it was impossible for any man, after having gone through seven years of litigation to render an impartial judgment and he read to the court a portion of the report as the defense committee named by Governor Fuller, in which the committee commented on prejudicial statements attributed to Judge Thayer outside of court. The judge testified that he had no recollection of the statements.

Says Honor Is Touched

"Will you look up the authority?" Judge Thayer asked. "Perhaps I am asking too much. I have looked them up and I have found that the honor is involved there is nothing that touches my heart and conscience more."

Attorney General Reading declared the defendants had had every opportunity in the courts to protect themselves and, he added, "the rights of these defendants are not transcended by the laws of the commonwealth."

The condemned men, he said, had had able lawyers and had been able to "procure the best legal aid beyond the ordinary term."

Judge Thayer reiterated his decision denying a new trial immediately after the lawyers concluded their arguments. The other last night and morning by denying revocation of sentence and stay of execution—he said were "somewhat different," and required more time for consideration.

Griffin, Ga., August 8.—(Special.) A man, giving his name as Bill Price, from Petersburg, Ill., was arrested today by local officers on charges of transporting liquor. Price was noticed by officers as he was driving down one of the main streets. After a merry chase over the city he was stopped and arrested. He was riding in a new high-priced coach, which has been driven only 2,800 miles. Over 200 quarts of Canadian Club whisky were found stored in the car. Price was placed in the Spalding county jail to await trial.

Rum Runners Pay Counterfeit Money for Cargoes, Is Charge

BY ALFRED P. RECK
United News Staff Correspondent.
Washington, August 8.—The life of a rum runner isn't what it used to be.

Transporters of contraband liquors from the Bahamas islands to the American mainland are up against it. Not only are they being crushed in the tightening net of the coast guard, but the successful runner who manages to elude the cutters and land his cargo is being paid off in counterfeit money.

This was revealed to the United News today by W. H. Moran, chief of the United States secret service, following the murder of Robert K. Webster, treasury agent, during a battle with rum runners off the Florida coast Sunday.

Webster was seeking to trace the source of counterfeit fifty-dollar gold certificates, which have been flooding Florida recently, Moran said.

The secret service chief believes the fraudulent bills are being manufactured in Florida and then used to purchase rum in the Bahamas. The secret service is not so much interested in the illegal rum traffic with illegal currency, but it is interested in the fact that many of the bills find their way back to the United States.

Again there comes from high authority praise for Mineral-Tone and its power to relieve the ills of mankind, as the Rev. G. L. Chastain, pastor of the St. John M. E. Church of LaGrange, Ga., writes to tell of his experience through 40 years with this amazing product of nature. Rev. Chastain is doubly a doctor, having been a physician before he became a minister of the gospel.

"As an old resident of Gordon County, I want to tell you of my knowledge and experience with Mineral-Tone," writes Rev. Chastain. "I have known this remarkable mineral for possibly 40 years. It first came to my attention when as a young man I was practicing medicine in the vicinity of Turkey Mountain, where the deposit of mineral is located."

"This mineral has great medicinal value, as a blood tonic it is useful for many ills. It has been used by the people of that section for many years with great benefit as a general system builder. My brother, who was a druggist at Calhoun, sold it in his store for many years. As a young man I was a practicing physician in that section, and only stopped practicing medicine because I felt the urge and call to preach the gospel and spread the word of God broadcast, as I have done for the past 24 years."

"I am not much of a believer in the general run of patent medicines, there are so many manufactured by so few of them. I believe in Mineral-Tone because it is a product of nature, its medicinal value is natural, the medicine in mineral form are fused together by nature. I am glad to tell you what I know about Mineral-Tone, and believe those who take it will be benefited."

Desks of steel have many advantages over those of wood—durability, strength and fire-resistance being the most common.

Now, however, through Van Dorn's Mastercraftsmen, steel desks are on a par with wood in beauty and in price. Spun bronze drawer pulls and leg shoes, non-glare linoleum top with just enough resiliency for comfortable writing and a standard finish in a rich olive green combines to make a desk of unusual beauty. Finishes in a rich mahogany, walnut or oak can be obtained at slight additional cost.

States in legitimate business channels. "The fifty-dollar certificate are cleverly made," Chief Moran said, "and a great number of them have found their way into circulation. A number of other counterfeiters of smaller denominations have been used in rum trade, but they are easier to detect than the $50 bills."

Commander Philip Lauriet, chief of Base No. 6 of the coast guards, located at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., now in Washington for conferences, is of the opinion that the counterfeiting is being done on the British islands and the bills are brought to this country by the rum runners.

"A great portion of the liquor purchased in the Bahamas by runners is with counterfeit money," Lauriet said, "but whether this is done intentionally or because a great portion of the counterfeit currency stays in liquor circles, we do not know."

The coast guard is cooperating with the secret service in an effort to break up the counterfeiting ring. If the plant is located in the Bahamas a complaint would have to be made to the British government and the Bahamas government could make seizures and arrests.

All captured rum runners are now being searched for traces of the fraudulent currency.

Youth Knight To Princess On U. S. Tour

New Albany, Ind., August 8.—(AP) Newland DeP. Knight, of New Albany, former cadet at Culver Military academy, cannot see that there is much chivalry to his playing knight errant to Princess Helena, of Rumania, when she faints last winter at Rosville, Ind. She was on a tour of the United States with her mother, Queen Marie, at the time.

Knight's aid was related by Queen Marie in dispatches from Rumania. The queen said the princess was "quite overcome by the manliness, tender care and chivalry which was shown by the young student," and added:

"He rendered all the services and advice any doctor could and was a real knight errant. It was the most interesting and dramatic happening of our entire stay in America, yet your usually alert newspapers hadn't a single word about it."

"We administered aid anyone would give a person who had fainted," Knight said. "All that I did was to rub her feet and ankles. When she regained consciousness she expressed surprise that she had fainted and wondered why she had done so. 'Nothing romantic ever came of it. About three weeks later I received a picture of the princess and a typewritten letter signed by her thanking me for my attentions. I did not reply to the letter and I do not believe I had any romantic ideas about the incident."

The incident occurred while the princess, with Knight, Colonel Calvin P. Chambers, of Culver; Miss Marr, the princess' English tutor, and the chauffeur were en route from Chicago to Indianapolis. A blinding snow was falling and the princess, who was driving, crashed into a truck at Grant Park, Ill. The accident upset her and on reaching Rosville she complained of being ill. The party went into a drug store where the princess fainted. She was carried upstairs to a doctor's office. The doctor being out, Miss Marr and Knight administered first aid.

SPURNED LOVER ENDS OWN LIFE

he whipped out a pistol and started shooting at him.

Nelson, then approaching Garnett street, turned up that thoroughfare and started running towards Pryor. Boyd continued firing and halfway up the block, which runs downhill to Central, Nelson fell, wounded in the neck, the left hip and right side.

Chase Started.

Seeing the attempted murder, J. H. Elder, another employee of the dairy company, ran towards Nelson, while the assailant ran directly across Garnett street into an alleyway between a store building and a dark frame house.

As Elder was attempting to give aid to Nelson, two shots were heard in the alleyway and he too ran, thinking Boyd was firing at him. Later it was found that one of the shots had drilled through Boyd's head.

Police arrived on the scene scarcely five minutes after the shooting and an ambulance shortly thereafter. As an officer, with gun in hand, started to walk into the dark alleyway, in quest of Boyd, the ray of his flashlight fell on the man's prostrate body. One look told the officer the case was ended. The pistol was still clutched in Boyd's hand but it had failed in functioning for the evening. Boyd's right temple bore an ugly wound and he had ceased breathing.

At Grady hospital, attendants said Nelson's wounds were "not serious." In the Tackette home a frantic woman was in a state of collapse while Mary, a comely schoolgirl, unassuming matured for her 16 years, was sobbing.

That Boyd had planned to kill the girl and then himself was positively evidenced when reporters went to Boyd's room at 270 Pryor and found letters in which he made threats to that effect.

The room is a large, bare one. On a white iron bed a suit of "Sunday clothes" lay. An alarm clock dangled from the framework at the head, its alarm set for 4 o'clock, at which time this morning he was supposed to go out on his delivery route. Blackened pots and pans in one corner, a loaf of bread and a small stove formed the kitchen.

Letter Is Found.

On a small white table, used presumably as both a dining table and a writing table, were two sheets of cheap, lined writing paper and a stub pencil. One of the sheets read, in an almost illegible script:

"At 270 Pryor street.
"Dear Homer: Here was the boy, fine I hope. For the old man, he under the weather these days. Say boy, I lost my girl. They runned me if they caught me with me." The letter was evidently unfinished.

The other, apparently a second sheet of a letter addressed to Mrs. Tackette, read as follows:

LEADERS OF G. O. P. SEEK CANDIDATE

Rapid City, S. D., August 8.—(AP) From the first of the national republican leaders to visit the summer white house since President Coolidge issued his note disclaiming another term the impression was gleaned to day that the race for the party's nomination is at present a neck-and-neck affair between a group which, however, does not include Coolidge.

Completing a week-end visit at the game lodge during which he had declined to comment, William V. Hodges, treasurer of the republican national committee, finally spoke of the party's prospects but even then in such carefully guarded phrases that it was difficult to determine just what he thought of the president's statement of his intentions in 1928.

Says Party Is Stronger.

"As a party man," he said, "I believe the party has been made stronger under the leadership of President Coolidge and it will be able to meet the task of selecting a nominee and electing him next year."

He declined very definitely to be drawn into any discussion of whether Coolidge's name might be brought before the convention, but when the conference was over there was the feel

Ex-Football Star Rescues Two Girls at Crystal Lake

Tifton, Ga., August 8.—(AP)—How Carl D. Lancaster, former Mercer football star at Mercer university, became a hero at Crystal Lake, 20 miles south of here, saving the lives of two young women, came to light here today with the return of people who had been at the lake over Sunday.

Miss Levis Hood, voted the prettiest girl at the A. and M. college last year, and Miss Venzey, who resides near Chula, accompanied by two young men, S. D. Hardison and Fay Burke, rowed out into Crystal lake in a small boat. When they reached deep water the boat was capsized.

Lancaster, who is in charge of the commerce department at the Tifton A. and M. college, and also football coach at the college, plunged into the water and got Miss Hood after she had gone down twice. She was brought ashore and while others worked to revive her Lancaster returned to rescue Miss Venzey.

The latter had carried Burke down and for a time it looked as if both would drown.

Miss Venzey got a deathlike grip on Lancaster and carried him down. The latter had carried Burke down and for a time it looked as if both would drown.

Speech of Vice President At Peace Bridge Significant, Declare Political Experts

Geneva Observations Regarded as Emphasizing Lack of Sympathy With Administration.

Washington, August 8.—Remarks by Vice President Charles G. Dawes in his address Sunday at the dedication of the International Peace bridge, at Buffalo, caused speculation Monday as to their possible political significance.

Reference by Dawes to the failure of the Geneva conference was regarded by administration officials as somewhat in criticism of the work of the American delegation. State department officials are understood to resent Dawes' suggestion that there may not have been sufficient preliminary preparation and that the attitude assumed by the conferees may not have been productive of the best results.

Traffic from Dalton to Chattanooga detours up the Cleveland road to beyond Chulista, then left over the ridge into Chattanooga. This is fair and gives no trouble when dry.

Hard Times Come To Bank Robbery Gangs in Illinois

(By Leased Wire to the Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Chicago, August 8.—Bank robbery is decidedly in the doldrums in Illinois. Two years ago bank robberies were of almost daily occurrence. The bandit gangs did not wait for nightfall, but would ride up openly, terrify the townspeople and make off with the funds. The crime became so frequent and universal that country bankers, unable to get justice or relief from courts and police officials, banded together and organized town guards. These bodies were made up of regular young men, handy with rifles and fearless in the face of danger.

Unusual precautions also were taken in the bank buildings. Secret compartments were built in the walls whereby an armed rifleman could see every movement in the bank offices. Signals were installed everywhere and meanwhile active target practice was maintained by the town guards, who now number more than 5,000 in the state.

Due to these protective measures bank robberies in this state have fallen in the last 15 months from $900,000 to $35,000, leaving a comfortable margin for employment of guards and the installation of better vaults and other safeguards. In many cases the robbers would kill or maim some of the bank officials or townsmen and this peril also has been whittled down almost to the vanishing point.

Jackson Pepper Plant To Open on Wednesday; Fine Yield Is Seen

Jackson, Ga., August 8.—(Special.) According to present plans the Georgia Pepper Growers, Inc., will begin operation of the pepper factory here next Wednesday, August 10. Growers have been notified to bring in their peppers Tuesday and indications are there will be a considerable quantity of ripe peppers on hand the opening day. The crop is maturing well and gives promise of a large yield per acre.

The factory will employ about 300 laborers and the weekly payroll will be between $10,000 and $15,000. The season will last through the first of November or until killing frost.

Growers who plant pepper on contract will be paid $40 per ton for No. 1 peppers and $25 per ton for No. 2 peppers. At the end of the season a considerable business is usually done in shipping growers' peppers to the northern and eastern markets.

Toronto, Ont., August 8.—(AP)—Vice President Charles G. Dawes considers himself only a lieutenant who "does not have to know anything" as long as his "captain" is alive.

Interviewed before he left Toronto after attending the opening of the Buffalo-Bridgport peace bridge, the vice president dismissed questions relative to politics with: "I am merely a lieutenant. As long as my captain is alive I do not have to know anything."

Vice President Dawes, with Mrs. Dawes, C. E. Sibley and G. Bartley, left Toronto for Little Current and Manitoulin Island, where he will spend the next four or five days.

RECEIVERS NAMED FOR A. J. EVANS AT FORT VALLEY

Macon, Ga., August 8.—(AP)—Following the appointment of receivers for the personal property of A. J. Evans, in the state court at Fort Valley, a voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed here late today by the Southern Brokerage company, an insecticide company of which he was president.

Judge A. C. Riley and D. C. Stodder, both of Fort Valley, were named receivers in the state court, to "safeguard the property for the benefit of creditors and all concerned," it was announced.

The schedules of the Southern Brokerage company show liabilities of $57,658.98, with assets of $108,246.38. More than $80,000 of the assets, however, are listed as debts due on open accounts.

The Southern Brokerage company had been operated for years for the purchase and sale of insecticides for the farmers of the Fort Valley territory.

It is stated that the Evans Marketing agency, operated this season by Mr. Evans and his associates in the marketing of fruits and vegetables for Fort Valley growers, will not be affected. He also is interested in a number of other corporations throughout Peach county, especially in connection with the ownership of orchards.

"Bud" Evans operated on a large scale as a peach grower and as a buyer and selling agent. The Sabino Basket company, of Texas, and the Snow Hill Butter Dish company, of Maryland, were among the firms who sought the receivership for Mr. Evans' personal property in the Peach county court.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS SCHOOL IS OPENED

Charlottesville, Va., August 8.—(AP)—Governmental problems at home and abroad drew the spotlight here at the opening of the two weeks' session of the institute of public affairs under the auspices of the University of Virginia.

Dr. Charles G. Maphis, dean of the summer quarter, delivered the address of welcome. Following Dr. Maphis, Governor Harry Flood Byrd of Virginia, spoke on "Reorganization of State and County Governments," to be followed by Dr. H. G. Moulton, head of the institute of economics at Washington, D. C., who discussed "Our Foreign Debt."

Speaking on the topic assigned to him by the institute, Governor Byrd introduced many of the themes which have been the backbone of his own plans in Virginia. The address was not long and, with the exception of the short ballot, none of his topics were discussed at great length. The governor explained what he termed the disadvantages of the long ballot by saying that the jealousy of conferring powers upon a state government has created a cumbersome machine with numerous officers elected directly by the people, each occupying his particular pedestal independent of the governor, and capable of destroying the harmonious adjustment of his administration.

The governor in referring to the apathy of people to take an interest in government problems, declared that "representative government in America can only be maintained by the indifference of the people themselves and their unwillingness to bear the burdens of citizenship."

Governor Byrd said that the reorganization of state and county government offered one of the greatest problems since there was nothing more complicated and difficult than modern government. He charged that one of the most formidable barriers to draw the line between useful regulation and useful oppression, between requiring a business man to regulate his affairs so as to protect his neighbor or to overregulate him in such a way as to unnecessarily destroy his control over his own affairs.

The problem of maintaining a favorable trade balance and still getting paid for debts incurred by foreign countries as a result of the war was presented by Mr. Moulton. Paying out the war debts without disrupting international trade is one of the most important problems before the world at the present time, he said, as America's position in the world has been vitally affected by the kind of debt settlements that are made.

SUCCESSOR TO WOOD DIVIDES FILIPINOS

BY WALTER WILGUS.
(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Manila, August 8.—As a result of the sudden death of Governor General Leonard W. Gurnea, the Philippine Islands have taken a new lease on life and are keenly watching President Coolidge for an indication as to who his successor will be.

The mention of Colonel Henry L. Stimson as the possible most likely candidate has created a split in Filipino councils, Sergio Osmeña favoring him and the president of the senate, Manuel Quezon, and the speaker of the house, Manuel Roxas, opposing.

During Colonel Stimson's last visit here politicians viewed him with alarm as a strong Wood man who probably would carry out the governor general's policies. The reason Senator Osmeña has since switched in favor of Colonel Stimson is an article by the latter in a recent number of Foreign Affairs, suggesting a new form of government for the Philippine Islands.

The British parliamentary system with the cabinet responsible to the legislature instead of to the executive. This is almost identical to the same scheme that was foisted on former Governor Francis Burton Harrison by Senator Osmeña, though not formally recognized by law.

Both leaders would accept Colonel Carmi A. Thompson without protest, as they consider him a politician like themselves with whom they can deal. They fear, however, that Colonel Thompson will work for the Ohio rubber companies and also introduce the federal reserve act and other novelties which they oppose.

If Alertox Fails In Constipation Call A Doctor

This new preparation acts with time-clock precision in 60 to 90 minutes; gives one thorough elimination; does not interfere with duties, habits or diet; is guaranteed to remove, in one action, more poison bile from the system than any other known formula leaving you buoyant, vivacious and alert, mentally and physically.

These are but a few of the many wonderful advantages of this latest discovery known as "Alertox," which cleanses the alimentary tract and reestablishes a natural, healthy liver and bowel action, and is much quicker, more palatable and far more effective than senna, oil or other nauseating cathartics that merely goad the liver and work you up to death.

Alertox also alkalizes the system and thoroughly cleanses it of the poisons that cause auto-intoxication. Get a bottle from your druggist, and if you are not satisfied after taking one dose, get your money back. If your druggist cannot supply Alertox, send direct upon receipt of price, 60c. ## "Pom-Pom" Proves Piquant And Tuneful at Erlanger

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

In the piquant, sometimes grotesque and sometimes highly melodramatic comic opera, "Pom-Pom," Atlanta's Municipal Opera company began its last week's engagement at the Erlanger theater Monday night, and with Claire Madjetie, prima donna, starring, all over the show in Mitzl Hajos' famous role, the final selection proved to be highly diverting and genuinely pleasing throughout.

"Pom-Pom" is one of the few comic operas in which the underworld is pictured in comic opera vein, and it appeals from the start by its sheer oddity. Its music is smooth and luring, and there is quite a bit of emotion in them. Anne Caldwell has worked out an ingenious arrangement of an old plot and Hugo Felix's score is entirely adequate.

In Mitzl's role of "Pom-Pom," Miss Madjetie gave a finished performance indeed. She played the role of a pseudo boy pickpocket with rare grace, wore boys' trousers with saucy impudence, won the heart of the man who loved and sang all the way through with much expression. Miss Madjetie possesses a voice of marvelous sweetness of tone. It is not particularly powerful but its softness is fairly entrancing.

Templeman and Mackenzie. "Pom-Pom" brought great parts also for Louis Templeman and Miss Alice Mackenzie. Mr. Templeman sang several numbers with his usual perfection and in his duets with Miss Mackenzie and Miss Madjetie his rich voice blended with marvelous harmony.

Miss Mackenzie demonstrated again that she is not only a capable actress indeed but is one of the ablest members of the company in all-around ability.

The lighter side of the evening was in the hands of the resourceful and hard-working Richard Powell and he made the most of his opportunities. He plays the part of "Policeman No. 13" and raised many laughs with his antics.

Some pleasing roles were provided also for Miss Madeleine McMahon, Charles Gallagher, John B. Wheeler and Roland Woodruff, although they did not have as much to do in this production as in some of the previous offerings of the summer season.

"Pom-Pom" served well in another respect. It brought to the stage a coterie of the young members of the opera ensemble to play principal roles and they did exceptionally well indeed. The development of such talent is an achievement within itself, and the local opera company is to be congratulated in finding such capable young people in Atlanta.

The Younger Stars. Those elevated for the evening were George Downman, Ed Kane, Griffith Edwards, Jack Owen Lovette, William Wilkerson, Jr., Henry Bradley and Margaret Russell, and they acquitted themselves with marked credit. Ed Kane and George Baker scored a tremendous hit with their interpolated number from "La Forza del Destino," sung in the first act.

Of the musical numbers which pleased the most, can be mentioned Miss Madjetie's "In the Dark," Miss Mackenzie's "My Man," which was one of the best things this charming young woman has done during the season; "Kiss Me," a duet by Mr. Templeman and Miss Madjetie; a duet, "Mon Desir," by Miss Mackenzie and Mr. Templeman; "Zim Zim," a crook song, by Roland Woodruff, George Downman and Ed Kane; "Evening," by Miss Madjetie.

America and Neville almost stopped the show with an Apache dance, which rounded out a great season of dances by this great team of dancers. They were given a real ovation by the audience Monday night.

The chorus of the municipal company handled the ensemble numbers perfectly and were some quaint costumes, some of them somewhat daring, with pleasing effect.

All in all, "Pom-Pom" is a fitting selection to round the season. It was staged under the direction of Fred A. Bishop and he did a good job of it. Charles Bertog provided a perfect accompaniment with his excellent orchestra and the season with "Pom-Pom" will provide a local history as a distinct artistic success.

velous eye of the camera, and around these characters is woven a story of melodramatic power. According to report, the two producers, Merian Cooper and Ernest Schoedsack spent almost a year and a half in the Siamese jungle making the film, and the result is well worth it.

It is a very complete melodrama; it has its comedian in the form of Bimbo, the monkey pet of the simple native family; it has its menace in the Great Herd of "changs" (elephants) and it has its protagonist in the person of a young man who heeds his way into the jungle and engages in a continuous struggle with the wild life.

On the stage this week Al Short struggles quite nobly to make a good stage show out of a picture which talent furnished him by the booking agent of the Public Circuit. Selections from "Faust," by the hand, and a little "clowning" "bang in the eye," which was conceived by Short, are the highlights of the offering.

RIALTO SHOWING AMAZING CINEMA IN "METROPOLIS"

"Metropolis," without doubt the year's most amazing cinema, is on view at the Rialto theater this week at the top of a program which includes a very good comedy, "Run-Tin-Can," a Paramount newswreel and musical features.

Between brain and brawn there must be a mediator—the heart. That is the idea which "Metropolis" is founded. The workers of "Metropolis" live far below the surface of the earth. They work in 10-hour shifts practicing their machine, and this image, in reality the automaton of a fatal inventor, tells them to strike for liberty. Without any loss of time they destroy their machines and destruction soon follows. Elevators crash down and water flows and—but see "Metropolis" for the thrill of the year.

A tender story in and throughout the film as Eric, son of the master of Metropolis, falls in love with Mary. How their union is ingeniously affected—let be laid at Director Fritz Lang's door.

—E. L.

Then one day, Mary disappears and her place is seen as an image built in the shape of a woman. This image, in reality the automaton of a fatal inventor, tells them to strike for liberty. Without any loss of time they destroy their machines and destruction soon follows. Elevators crash down and water flows and—but see "Metropolis" for the thrill of the year.

"Pom-Pom" Brings Summer Opera to Colorful Close

BLANCHE SWEET STARS IN "SINGED" ON CAPITOL SCREEN

How the love of a woman, expressed in the tangible manner of staking the man of her heart to an oil well that turned out to be a gusher; how, later, that man came to the brink of casting her off because of his ambitions to scale the social ladder as he had mounted the financial steps of New York, is depicted in gripping fashion in "Singed," with Blanche Sweet in the leading feminine role, which began a week's run at the Capitol Monday. Miss Sweet is ably supported by Warner Baxter and Mary McAllister.

Something unique in the way of dramatic performance is given by the Mammal Moscow troupe of artists, with the aid of a glorified spring board, do some startling work. This act is decidedly the best on the program.

Ray Fern and Marie, listed as vaudeville diversions, get the runner-up position on the card. Their skit at times is rather humorous. Benny and Elsie Barton in their latest production, "Vaudeville Limited," in which singing and dancing are the leading parts; Raymond Wilbert, who does a series of trick golf shots, and Frank Hamilton, who is listed as one of Songland's favorite sons, complete the program.

"Whispering Smith Rides," a serial; "Buster Comes Home," a comedy, and International News Reel are other features of the program.

JAZZ AND COMEDY COMBINE TO MAKE GRAND BILL A HIT

For fast action, jazzy singing and weeping and wailing "blues" songs, the bill of vaudeville which opened Monday at Loew's Grand ranks as the peak point of the year with three acts in the headline class and two more right next to them the bill is one of the best of the season in Atlanta.

The headline attraction is "The Bachelor-Jamison Revue" and it easily outshines anything of this kind seen here recently. It is crowded with zing and snap, the dances are of the whirlwind order, the comedy is fast and there are three real pretty girls. Rivaling the headline in popularity is the work of the "Five Harmonies." They take kitchen utensils, mix them up with banjos and guitars and a harmonica or two thrown in and produce such much jazz as Paul Whitman's band.

Those sterling comedians, Carson and Willard, are here again and they have revised their time honored skit, "Meet the Doctor," to introduce a lot of new gags and fun.

Mahoney and Cecil scored heavily in a pretty little comedy entitled "The Sealers," full of clever lines and bright situations. The Paul Brachard troupe in a beautiful acrobatic number in which many marvelous feats were performed, opened the bill.

John Gilbert appears as the star in "Twelve Miles Out," and for tense action, swift-moving romance and dramatic intensity this picture is a marvel. It is bound to be one of the "hit" pictures playing here this week.

—PAUL STEVENSON.

VIVACIOUS ADOREE STARS IN FRENCH PICTURE AT MET

Several pleasing musical numbers by Enrico Leide and his orchestra help to make the program at the Metropolitan this week fairly entertaining. "On Ze Boulevard," the photoplay featuring Lew Cody and Renee Adoree, is one of those "wild Parisian" concoctions manufactured in Hollywood.

Bobby Vernon dashes through a hilarious comedy, "Duck Out," News and Views and the Literary Digest's "Fun From the Press" round out the entertainment.

"On Ze Boulevard" is given the necessary French atmosphere by the vivacious Miss Adoree, open air cafes, white aproned waiters and a thirty-foot flash of the Longchamps race course. Cody makes a good job of an awkward part. A poor Frenchman wins a lottery and goes on a spree. Crooks try to deprive him of his cash and the girl comes to the rescue. It is the good old hokum.

Leide, with exhilarating and thoughtfully-chosen tunes, makes the program diverting.

"Duck In" is the usual comedy of comic strip humor. The news reel is packed with interesting views—President Coolidge making his "final dramatic" statement; the Prince of Wales in Canada and snags of a fifteen-mile range gun.

DEKALB THEATER, DECATUR MOVIE HOUSE, IS OPENED

Another new community theater, the DeKalb, probably the most modern and up-to-date in the suburbs of the city, was opened to the public Monday afternoon. The DeKalb is located on Ponce de Leon avenue, in the heart of the business district of Decatur and follows the English style of architecture.

The new house was built by Walter T. Candler, in conjunction with the construction of a new hotel, at a cost of approximately $150,000. It has a seating capacity of 500 and a large stage. Split bills will be featured at the new house.

Lucas and Jenkins, operators of a number of other community theaters in various sections of the city, have leased the DeKalb, which will be operated under the direction of Alpha Fowler, general manager.

Frank Harris, well-known young Atlanta and former Georgia Tech football star, has been named manager of the DeKalb. Harris was a star in the famous pony backfield, when Barron, another Tech star and now assistant manager of the Capitol theater, was playing his first football on Grant field.

PRESIDENT TELLS OF EFFORTS MADE TO SAVE BANKS

Fayetteville, N. C., August 8.—(AP) Asserting that "everything that could possibly be done to save the bank was done," J. H. Culbert, president of the National Bank of Fayetteville, tonight issued a statement to the Associated Press in which he depicted the institution's predicament and causes which contributed to its being closed today.

"I was made president of the bank in April over my protest," he said, "to save the bank I took the position solely with that hope in view and did everything in my power to save the situation. But the bank was not in good condition then and the depositors were withdrawing their funds. That is the whole story."

"It was really at the direction of the chief bank examiner that I was made president of the bank," he said. "Of course, the directors could only concur in his decision when matters reached the point they did."

Mr. Culbert does not seem to doubt in the least but that a receiver will be appointed. He believes that G. H. Tucker, who became active vice president in January, likely will be appointed to this post. Tucker formerly was a bank examiner. W. P. Folger, chief bank examiner of Washington, D. C., had charge of the institution tonight.

CONDITION OF CONNER IS STILL UNCHANGED

Birmingham, Ala., August 8.—(AP) The condition of Braxton Bragg Conner, former governor of Alabama, seriously ill at his home here, was reported unchanged by physicians tonight. Mr. Conner, 78 years of age, has been waging a battle for several weeks with sickness which physicians constantly have feared would prove fatal.

W. V. Knott to head Florida audit bureau. Tallahassee, Fla., August 8.—(AP) W. V. Knott, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane at Chattahoochee, was appointed by Governor John W. Martin today to head the newly created state auditing department. Dr. J. Q. Palmer, head surgeon and physician at the hospital, for several years, was named to succeed Mr. Knott at the institution.

ACTION EXPECTED IN FLOGGING CASES

Clarksville, Ga., August 8.—(Special.)—Probability of indictments being returned here Tuesday in several flogging cases reported in Habersham county was forecast by the announcement that the grand jury will take up the cases tomorrow and hear the large number of witnesses summoned to appear before the jury.

Habersham superior court opened here this morning with Judge L. H. Burton, of the northwestern circuit presiding. Solicitor General Robert McMillan will represent the state. Judge Sutton made no reference to the flogging cases in his charge to the jury, there having been no official action taken in the cases yet.

Organization of the court and the judge's charge consumed practically all the forenoon and the jury organized near noon by electing John Brown, of Denmore, as foreman. It is understood that bills of indictment have been drawn in the flogging cases and the juryman announced that evidence concerning them would be heard Tuesday.

It is said that identification has been made of 16 members of an alleged hooded and robed band who, it is charged, whipped seven persons, including women, girls and boys, on May 12 near Baldwin, and more than 50 witnesses have been summoned to appear before the jury.

The flogging cases came to light Saturday when it became known that subpoenas to witnesses had been served and that the victims are ready to tell their stories to the grand jurors.

The alleged victims of the night-riders were Mrs. Amanda Pitts, 50, and her daughters, Misses Kela, 20, Mary, 18, and Lizzie Pitts, 16; Mrs. Amanda Cockran, 19, and Lon Hill, 14, of Baldwin, and Orin Galloway and Harvey Shirley, of Clarksville. Mrs. Cockran and Mary Pitts were struck with fists while the others were flogged.

Reports at Clarksville show that six persons were whipped by night-riders about 18 months ago. None of the floggers was prosecuted, however, because of lack of evidence to convict. The victims at that time were W. G. English, 70, who lives two miles from Clarksville; John Angel, 50, shoemaker, Spanish war veteran; a young man named Cantrell, who lives near Turnerville; E. E. Loudernick and his son, and Burney Taylor, of Clarksville, authorities there stated.

FRENCH PRIMA DONNA MAKES AMERICAN DEBUT

Chicago, August 8.—(AP) Mme. Yvonne Gall, French prima donna, made her debut at the Ravinia opera tonight before one of the largest and most enthusiastic audiences of the season.

Mme. Gall sang the title role of Massenet's opera, "Thais." Sharing honors tonight was Giuseppe Maria, young American prima donna, arrived today and will make her debut Wednesday night as Guisette in "The Tales of Hoffman."

W. V. KNOTT TO HEAD FLORIDA AUDIT BUREAU

Tallahassee, Fla., August 8.—(AP) W. V. Knott, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane at Chattahoochee, was appointed by Governor John W. Martin today to head the newly created state auditing department. Dr. J. Q. Palmer, head surgeon and physician at the hospital, for several years, was named to succeed Mr. Knott at the institution.

Girl Charged With Slaying Lover on Ship

London, August 8.—Mary Josephine Waite, a strikingly beautiful stewardess and nurse on the U. S. Shipping Board vessel, American Trader, was formally charged in the Thames police court today with the murder, by poison, of Louis Fisher, a refrigerating engineer on the same boat.

Miss Waite was born in Great Britain but is a naturalized American and the question of extradition arose. However, the American embassy was not represented at today's hearing and it is believed that since the crime was alleged to have been committed on board the ship near the Sicily Isles, within British territorial waters, the case will be disposed of here.

It was stated that Miss Waite and Fisher had been friendly for several voyages. Fisher was subject to fits of violent temper and the pair quarreled on this voyage. When the ship was two days from England, Miss Waite went to Fisher's bunk and while he slept poured pure sulphuric acid in his mouth, it is charged.

Fisher rushed to the deck screaming, accused the stewardess, and died 20 minutes later in terrible agony.

None of the passengers knew anything had happened when the liner docked.

Tenth Street.

To be shown for the last time today at the Tenth Street theater, Adolphe Menjou in "Blonde or Brunette," an amusing comedy that's funny all the time. Menjou is featured as the gent who didn't know which he preferred until he married them both. Imagine any man having to choose between the ravishing blonde beauty, Greta Nissen, and the bewitching French brunette, Arlette Marchal! No wonder he preferred them both. Come and let Menjou settle this vital question for you now.

Palace.

A picture described as the funniest comedy of the season will be shown for the last time today at the Palace, when George K. Arthur and Carl Dane are featured in "Rookies." The two comedy boys assisted by Miss Marceline Day present an amazing tale of the citizens' military training camp life, with just enough romance interwoven to make the story interesting. Karl Dane has the role of a hard-boiled top-sergeant whose rival for the hand of Marceline Day is a scruffy young private played in the inimitable fashion of George K. Arthur.

West End.

"Lady Westminster's Fan," the vivid and splendid picturization of Oscar Wilde's world famous play that has thrilled countless thousands for three decades will be shown for the last time today at West End. The picture deals with the same story in London and includes such stars in its cast as Ronald Colman, Irene Rich, May MacAvoy and Bert Lytell.

DeKalb.

The admirers of Florence Vidor will be amazed and happy when they visit the new DeKalb theater in Decatur today and see screenom's newest star in her best role, "You Never Know Women." It's a compelling love drama that takes one behind the theater scenes where Russian vaudeville company is having its first American showing, its luxurious metropolitan homes, and along the New York river front.

Ponce de Leon.

Gilda Gray had never been in pictures before, nor had she occupied a position as stellar actress on the stage, but in her initial screen vehicle, "Alma of the South Seas," which is playing for today only at the Ponce de Leon theater she exhibits all the requirements and talents of a full-fledged cinema star. In fact, she exhibits more, for she has the added experience gained as dancer in the Ziegfeld folies in which organization she became famous for her hula-hula and "Alma" affords her opportunity to display her dancing talent lavishly.

Madison.

A stark and gripping drama of the primitive is on view at the new Madison theater in East Atlanta for today only in "Hell Bent for Heaven," which has been acclaimed as one of the most unusual pictures ever filmed. Unlike the convention folk story it is remarkable in its tale of a full-fledged cinema star, which has grown to be a characteristic of our folk tales on both screen and stage. Two comparative unknowns stepped into the leading roles of this feature special and made a name for themselves—Bobby Harmon and Dorothy Devore.

WHICH ONE WOULD YOU SELL—LOU OR THE BABE?

BY NORMAN E. BROWN.
If you were Colonel Jake Ruppert.
And had a monopoly on the home run stars in Ruth and Gehrig.

And found that from a business standpoint the monopoly really threatened to cut your gate receipts by making the American league a one-team affair.

And decided to peddle one of the two.

Which one would you trade or sell? This question, off hand, may sound a bit foolish.

Such a situation, however, is not beyond the range of possibilities in view of the situation now coming to a head. American league moguls are already discussing means of "evening up" the league by selling the best players—partly at the expense of the Yankee club.

Hogging Honors.
As long as the Yankees keep both Gehrig and Ruth they bid fair to hog the honors—as well as the home runs. Home runs are still the life of the party.

So the colonel may come face to face with the task of deciding the above problem.

Off hand our thought would be to sell Ruth.

Why?

Well, first of all, Ruth is headed toward the sunset side of his career, no matter how far distant the end. He has been king of the home run hitters for eight years—since he first startled the world with his hitting in 1919. He cannot go on forever, of course.

Lou Coming Up.
Gehrig is just coming up. He has years ahead of him. One can feel that he has not yet reached the peak—years ahead of him already seems.

Ruth, in another uniform, would pack the stadium every time he came to New York. Gehrig, continuing at his present pace, would become the new Babe Ruth to New Yorkers. He is the only man in the game who might eventually step into the Babe's shoes.

Ruth, because he is Ruth, would carry his tremendous drawing power wherever he went. He is still Ruth. Which means that he would be in demand with the Yankees if they would still have the greatest drawing card in baseball, and the other measures made to equalize things would be somewhat futile.

Food for Thought.
Interesting food for thought, this. The Yankees acquired Ruth by paying what was then a record price for a single ball player—still is. The price was $125,000. Gehrig cost them practically nothing. He came to the Yankees as a youngster out of college.

Gehrig had made a reputation as a home run hitter in the Eastern league in the short time he served there. Others, however, have come to the big show with a record. Ruth, for example, The Yankees felt that they were getting a better batter but it is reasonable to suggest that they had made a mistake in acquiring the nearest approach to Babe Ruth the game has produced when they signed Lou.

MRS. DALY RECOVERING AT 'NOOGA'

Chattanooga, Tenn., August 8.—(AP)—Mrs. Bill Daly, wife of the trainer of the Atlanta club who was injured in an automobile accident Sunday at Rock Springs, Ga., when the car in which she was riding was wrecked by another car, is recovering in a local hospital.

Mrs. Daly was suffering mainly from bruises and shock.

CAR DID NOT STOP.
Rock Springs, Ga., August 8.—(Special).—Mrs. Bill Daly, wife of Bill Daly, trainer of the Atlanta baseball club, was injured when the car in which she was riding was wrecked by another car in a narrow culvert and knocked into a creek below.

The lives of Mrs. Daly and her baby were saved only by the arrival of a troop of Boy Scouts who plunged in and lifted the mother and child from the mud and water.

The automobile which sideswiped that of Mrs. Daly did not stop but the license number was noted by a member of the scout troop which was enamped near the scene of the accident.

FOREIGN STARS INVADING U. S. FOR TOURNEYS

The presence in the United States of the members of the British Wightman cup squad draws the limelight to the feminine contingent of the tennis tour. Joan Fry, Bettie Nuthall, et al., are occupying the center of the sport stage right now.

Juffrouse K. Buman, of Holland, Senorita de Alvarez of Spain, and one or two other fair maids of the continent who must be ranked among the real stars of the game are not with us, however.

Among the others is Esther Heine, of South Africa.

Not only is she demanding a place in the tennis sun for herself these days but she recalls the fact that the "union" has given the game several outstanding stars.

Probably the best known of these to Americans is Brian Norton. P. D. B. Spence is another. Two women Miss Tapscott and Mrs. Peacock, have demanded rank with the best of the continental players.

Miss Heine, however, bids fair to soar higher than her sisters. She is but 17 now and despite her youth shows a dashing type of play of the Helen Wills type. Her backcourt game has been called little short of perfect already. She is developing a sturdiness which fits her for this long driving game, too.

She has already demonstrated her skill on British courts.

American Polo Team Is Selected

Will Ride Against British Team Next Month in International Match.

Westbury, N. Y., August 8.—(United News).—The "Big Four" who will ride for America in defense of the international polo challenge cup against the quartet of the Army-in-India at Meadowbrook next month have been named officially by the selection committee of the United States Polo association.

The American team to meet the British will be:

F. W. C. Guest, No. 1.
Tommy Hitchcock, No. 2.
J. Cheever, No. 3.
Devereux Milburn, No. 4.

Milburn and Hitchcock were members of the 1924 team which defeated the British at Meadowbrook in the presence of the Prince of Wales.

The other members of that team were J. Watson Webb and Malcolm Stevenson, who played No. 1 and No. 3, respectively.

Tommy Hitchcock is recognized as the best No. 2 and the best all-around polo player in the world today. Milburn for years has been the outstanding back of the game.

Freddie Guest graduated from Yale in June. He was the star of intercollegiate polo. He is 21 years old and a son of the Honorable Frederick Guest, secretary of the War Office.

Lloyd George when the latter was prime minister of Great Britain.

Cowdin is 39 and has been playing polo for 15 years. His father, J. E. Cowdin, was a member of America's international team in 1902.

JACK DELANEY FACES PAOLINO ON THURSDAY

New York, August 8.—(United News).—The ruggedness of the Basque oak will test the flashing blade of the ring's favorite French-Canadian woodsman at the Yankee stadium Thursday night, when Jack Delaney tries to cut his way into heavyweight honors.

Delaney, who has been the past one of the toughest of the present contenders in a 15-round battle.

Paolino Uzonon, when he crawls down behind his elbows and then lunging towards an opponent, is one of the hardest of heavyweights to hit and will provide the sternest test of Delaney's marksmanship.

How the fight will develop is the subject of much speculation. Delaney, who gave up his light heavyweight crown to seek big purses among the bigger fellows.

Delaney, save on his few off-nights, always has been a sharpshooter and a terrific hitter as well. The feeling is that he will be both at the top of the Basque, who can sop up punishment with the best of them. Paolino never has been tipped over, but he never has met a man of Delaney's class.

Jack is a 7-to-5 favorite over Senor Uzonon. The experts cannot figure Paolino winning early in the fight.

Delaney, an accident to Senor Uzonon's arms or hands can turn the tide of battle early in the Basque's favor.

The very fact that Pete Reilly and Jack Delaney tossed away the light heavyweight title to take on Paolino bespeaks their confidence in rocking the Basque to sleep or outboxing him by a wide margin. They hardly would have sacrificed the champion's end of a purse to take too long a chance.

WIDOW IN DREAM HEARS HUSBAND'S SLAYER'S NAME

Rockville, Md., August 8.—(AP)—The widow of the slayer of Edward L. Mills, dairyman who was murdered on his farm several weeks ago, now is bordering on the realm of the occult in her announcement to the police that she dreamed her husband told her the slayer's name in a dream.

Mrs. Mills said her husband appeared in her dreams and carefully spelled out the name of the man who shot him. The name was not familiar to her, she said, and upon awakening she made a note of it. Beyond recall, she said, the name was that of a Washington man the authorities refused to discuss the new turn of the case.

DATE-BOOK LOSS IS EMBARRASSING L O R D MIDDLETON

London, August 8.—(United News).—Faced with the prospect of months of missed appointments, Lord Middleton, former cabinet officer, appealed through newspaper to a pick-pocket to return his date-book.

"Lord Middleton would be obliged," the advertisement read, "if the gentleman who relieved him of his notebook at Victoria station Saturday night would return it to him at 34 Portland place."

"There was some money, too," explained Lord Middleton, "but I can do without that. Without my notebook I won't know what I have to do between now and New Year's day."

PEER OF BRITAIN, ONCE BRICKLAYER, DIES IN LONDON

London, August 8.—(United News).—Viscount Deerpurth, who once studied the building industry by going to the United States and working as a bricklayer, laying 1,000 bricks a day, is dead here.

He was 61. In 1884 he married the American heiress, Virginia Bonnyne, and leaves four children by her. The eldest, the Hon. George Earl of Coventry, Viscount Deerpurth's father.

LEVINS MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL COMES UP TODAY

Tampa, Fla., August 8.—(AP)—Argument on a motion for a new trial for Ben Levins, convicted of first degree murder several weeks ago, today was set for tomorrow before F. M. Robbins, judge in circuit court today.

CRIME PREVENTION SUGGESTED FOR EUROPE

New York, August 8.—(AP)—Europe is dealing with crime through prevention rather than punishment, Dr. Louis N. Robinson, secretary of the sub-committee on penal laws and institutional correction of the national crime commission, reported today after a study of penal institutions in England, Belgium, Holland and Germany.

"While we Americans seem to think that crime can be held in check by punishing severely an insignificant fraction of our criminals," he wrote in his preliminary report to the sub-committee, "Europeans believe that it is far more effective to impose reasonably mild penalties on a large proportion of those who offend."

Rely On Police.
"Europeans rely on their police rather than their prisons to keep down crime," Dr. Robinson found, pointing to a recent report showing that "in two of the leading cities of Missouri" only three per cent of persons against whom information concerning crimes was filed were punished. He said that allowing 97 per cent of our offenders to go free would be a disaster.

He said that Europe was constantly turning to more severe penalties to a harsher prison regime. He found, he said, an effort to substitute something for imprisonment less information concerning crimes was filed were punished. He said that allowing 97 per cent of our offenders to go free would be a disaster.

Statistics indicating that in the United States in 1923 were for non-payment of fines, Dr. Robinson said that America is sending its poor folk to jail while its rich go free. In Europe, he said, the poor are sent to pay their fines in installments rather than sent to jail.

Free From Politics.
Police and prison officials are free from politics and able to maintain law and order without regard to changes of political power persistently interrupt the carrying out of definite programs in America, he reported.

Escapes from European prisons are virtually unknown, said Dr. Robinson, although the prisons are far less formidable structurally than in America. He found that persons in prison in Europe are kept busy even while awaiting trial. There is a notable absence of the idleness so prevalent in American jails.

Former Governor Frank O. Lowden, chairman of the subcommittee, in a foreword to Dr. Robinson's report explained that his study had been facilitated by the cooperation of the department of justice and the assistance of our foreign embassies.

BANKER CONFESSES TO $150,000 FORGERY

Winston-Salem, N. C., August 8.—(AP)—Clem Wrenn, president of the defunct Bank of Wilkes at Wilkesboro, today issued a signed statement in which he admitted to forging the names of Wilkes county commissioners to notes amounting to $150,000.

Following a conference at Wilkesboro with attorneys for Wrenn, Solicitor Jones issued the following statement for publication:

"Clem Wrenn has called in his attorneys, J. H. Folger and J. A. Ross, and has requested them to state publicly the facts in regard to the Wilkes county board of education notes and the Wilkes county notes which are the subjects of investigation. The attorneys, at his direction, have already communicated these facts to the solicitor."

"Clem Wrenn states that he alone is responsible for the issuing of all the notes in question. That no official of the board of education or of the county is connected with the fraudulent issuing of any of these notes; that no one of them reaped any benefit from them or knew anything of their fraudulent nature, neither did any attorney connected with the county board of commissioners reap any benefit from any of them, or know of any fraud connected with them. That the facts are, and Mr. Wrenn wishes known, he alone was responsible. He feels that these facts should be stated now and in justice to the public and to the county, thus saving them of suspicion and the county of costs and expenses."

Officers of Wilkes county said that $150,000 in notes of which there are no records have been found and they said in his confession today Wrenn assumed full responsibility for the notes.

Wrenn, it was stated, will not be tried at the regular term of superior court, which opened at Wilkesboro to try the case of a woman charged with the forgery charges.

HOUSE OF DAVID LEADER IS ILL, NURSE TESTIFIES

St. Joseph, Mich., August 8.—(AP)—Benjamin Purnell, head of the House of David organization is seriously ill and under the constant care of a physician, Miss Florence McCaslon, a resident of St. Joseph, Mich., testified at the dissection proceedings here today, the leader who is suffering from diabetes and tuberculosis, has been confined to his bed for nearly three years, and has become greatly emaciated, the nurse testified.

State witnesses previously had testified that Purnell had been ill, and that he was unable to move, or did, were looked upon as sinners.

Defense attorneys at adjournment said Purnell's illness would not prevent his testimony in the present action. They indicated he will be called some time next week.

Mrs. Jane Glover, a colony member, who the state charges assisted in arranging a number of group marriages among colonists when a federal investigation threatened the cult, took the stand and denied the allegations.

YUCATAN COAST WATERS POISONED BY DEAD FISH

(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Merida, Yucatan, Aug. 8.—A submarine phenomenon has taken place on the Yucatan coast, where, presumably on account of a volcanic eruption, dead fish in huge numbers, including large deep sea specimens, are floating about for miles all along the coast, poisoning the waters in every direction. Steps have been taken to avoid an epidemic by digging trenches along the coast to bury the millions of fish.

Hopkins - Searles Millions To Pass Into New Hands

Lawrence, Mass., August 8.—(AP)—The Hopkins-Searles millions will pass to new hands as a result of the death of Windham N. H. last night of Arthur T. Walker, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage he died within two hours.

Mr. Walker was residuary legatee of the late Edward F. Searles, eccentric multi-millionaire who died on his magnificent estate in Methuen, a suburb of Lawrence, in August, 1920.

An effort by Victor Searles, a nephew, to break the will, was settled out of court and it was understood that he received about a million dollars. By his contest he forfeited a bequest of $250,000 which under the terms of the will, interpreted by the courts, went to the University of California.

Another attempt to wrest a part of the fortune from Walker failed when the courts threw out the suit of Angelo M. Ellison for $15,000,000 against the Searles estate.

Ellison for some time was employed as a bellboy at the Methuen hotel, where he was that Searles had promised to treat him liberally in his will.

Searles, an interior decorator, at the age of 40, married Mrs. Mark Hopkins, widow of the builder of the Union Pacific railroad. They became acquainted when he decorated her mansion in Great Neck, N. Y.

At her death the Hopkins fortune came to Searles, who for the greater part of his life thereafter was virtually a recluse in the great house, surrounded by costly gardens and a high wall, which he established in Methuen. At times he stayed at a veritable castle which he built in Westchester, N. Y.

Walker was his confidential secretary. He was an obscure worker in a New York business office. His name had been credited with his virtual doubling before Searles' death, when it was estimated at between 40 and 50 million dollars.

DRY CHIEF MAY ASK EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Indianapolis, Ind., August 8.—Possibility that executive clemency may be sought for Edward S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League who faces a 60-day sentence at the state farm for contempt of court, was foreseen tonight following a visit of Bishop J. H. Tamm, president of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League, to the office of Governor Ed Jackson.

But, when asked whether the Shumaker had been discussed, said it was hardly mentioned. Jackson said he and Ford discussed the Shumaker case generally. At present, he explained, there is no official word before him on the Shumaker case.

At a secret session of the Methodist Ministers' association of Indianapolis, today, a resolution was adopted commending the state of Shumaker.

James Bingham, Shumaker's chief counsel, said: "If there is any chief question involved and we fail to get any relief in this court, we will seek a writ of error for an appeal to the United States supreme court."

Willert Upholds Secret Meetings By Diplomats

Williamstown, Mass., August 8.—(AP)—Secret negotiations, upheld by Sir Arthur Willert, head of the news bureau of the British foreign office, tonight in an address at the institute of politics.

Geneva has come to be very much of a club for foreign ministers, he said, where representatives of various countries meet and quietly discuss controversial problems.

"The private comings and goings at Geneva, I know," said Sir Arthur, "are crowded upon by some supporters of the league on the ground that they make for secret diplomacy. To this criticism my answer is a simple and I venture to think, a practical one. International negotiations, to succeed, must be secret up to a certain point. Diplomats charged with questions in which national honour is involved are not to be expected to do all their work in the presence of the public. It is easier to be frank and what is still more important, it is easier to make concessions and meet the other side half way in private than it is in open conference when controversy and concession are flashed in the presence of the public. It is to be feared, distorted."

"I am not suggesting secret agreements. Secret agreements are quite another thing and nothing can be said in favor of them."

MME. NUNGESSER ASKS CLEMENCY FOR DOOMED REDS

Paris, August 8.—(United News).—Mme. Nungesser, mother of the airman Charles Nungesser, who disappeared after starting on a Paris-New York flight, today called Governor Fuller, of Massachusetts, pleading for mercy for Sacco and Vanzetti.

"I believe that while I am waiting for my dear child, a little peace will come to me if my respectful intervention saves the lives of the two unfortunate men," she said, "and I appeal through the Paris-Sacco-Vanzetti committee. I await your reply patiently."

UNMASKED MEN ROB INDIANA BANK, MAKE GETAWAY

FASHION BELEGATES STUDY RELIGIONS

Lausanne, Switzerland, August 8.—(AP)—The world conference on faith and order entered the second and perhaps most difficult stage of its work today when its 600 delegates, representing nearly all Christian religions, broke up into commissions and began behind closed doors the preparation of reports on the subjects of doctrine which already have been discussed in full open session.

Since more than 20 different languages are spoken by the delegates, the task of providing interpreters for the commissions and their subcommittees is taxing the resources of conference leaders.

The general sessions have shown that there are three main elements represented here. The Anglicans of Great Britain and the British dominions and the American Episcopalians and the so-called free churches including Methodists, Wesleyans, Presbyterians, Congregationalists, Lutherans, Baptists and other Protestant churches outside the Anglican and Episcopal churches, constitute the second element, and the third is the eastern Orthodox church, represented by the apostolic succession of the creed or by the acceptance of the substance of one of these creeds, accordingly, as any church should determine.

Among the chairmen of the commissions are Dr. William Adams Brown, of Union Theological seminary, who heads the commission studying the subject of the "Nature of the Church"; Dr. Adolf Deissmann, of Berlin, head of the commission of the "Church's Message to the World"; and Canon Irving Colvill, of London, heading the commission dealing with the "Church's Common Confession of Faith." The last named commission will consider the question of creed.

Late today Bishop F. J. McConnell, of Pittsburgh, Pa., Methodist, was appointed vice chairman of Dr. Deissmann's section.

GOVERNOR FAILS IN MINE PALREY

Columbus, Ohio, August 8.—(AP)—Governor Donahue today conceded that his attempt to bring about a conference between miners and operators of the central competitive soft coal field to negotiate on a wage scale had failed and said that at present he has no further plans for attempting to settle the coal strike.

Governor Donahue, after asking the support of the governors of Illinois, Indiana and Pennsylvania, had asked miners' and operators' organizations to meet in conference at Toledo August 15 to resume discussion of the wage scale where it was terminated at the Miami conference.

The miners generally were in favor of the plan, but the operators did not agree to the conference, declaring the central competitive field has been broken up as far as a unified wage is concerned and asserting they believed it better for the operators and miners in the various districts to attempt to get together.

"I shall stand on my policy expressed last week in my proclamation to the people of Ohio," Governor Donahue said. "I have urged both miners and operators not to take any steps to incite rioting; I have urged them to get together on an economic basis so that the Ohio mine industry may be reorganized. I have told county authorities that I expect them to preserve peace and protect property, and that when local civil authority fails, I shall not hesitate to send troops into the field. On this stand."

SYNOPSIS

A band of crooks, stumbling on the fact that Sir Adrian Shale's wife is alive, when supposedly she had died six months before in Italy, arrives at Grantwick, Sir Adrian's home, for the purpose of blackmailing him. Miss Winchell, one of the crooks, posing as a widow, obtains a letter of introduction to Sir Adrian, who is kind to her and her "daughter," Doris. The girl is beautiful and possesses the only shred of respectability the gang can lay claim to. She is in reality a cousin whom Sir Adrian has befriended. One of the crooks, Beauty Bill Gibbons, asks Doris to marry him. She refuses. A few days later Sir Adrian announces his intention to marry Doris. She tells him she knows his wife is alive and demands fifty thousand pounds for silence. Sir Adrian does not believe her, but agrees to pay the money. She returns to London immediately and discovers that Sir Adrian has tricked her. Somewhat disturbed by Miss Winchell's story, Sir Adrian decides to make an investigation. His wife's former maid, Mrs. Ferguson, failed to come back to England after Lady Shale's death in Italy. In attempting to find her, Sir Adrian calls on Mrs. George, a fashionable London dressmaker, who is unable to give him any information. Doris rebels at the life she is forced to lead with Miss Winchell and her uncle, Uncle Charles, and takes a job as a stenographer at Mrs. George's. Uncle Charles, Jr., sends for Doris and while she is with him he dies. She is late in returning to Mrs. George's and is scolded by Susan's husband for refusing to tell where she has been. She leaves Susan's house and her employer, Miss Winchell, Doris is Mrs. George's daughter, makes a demand on the dressmaker for five thousand pounds. Sir Adrian calls on Mrs. George, who has just learned of her sister's death in Italy, six months ago, and that his wife had recently died. George confides in Sir Adrian about the blackmailing scheme and he offers to help her. He learns that the girl he knew as Doris is really a cousin whom Sir Adrian has befriended and that she is at present in a London hospital, having been run down by a motor car. He goes to the hospital and finds she is out of danger. Then he calls on Miss Winchell.

INSTALLMENT XXXVIII

A NONE TOO EASY TASK

Sir Adrian left George to her sad thoughts for a moment, then broke in upon them to make a suggestion which had occurred to him on his journey back to town.

"When she is well enough to travel, I should like Doris to go to my country house. My sister is there, and she could look after her. And indeed my sister has met her," he said with an amused smile.

He wished to rouse George and she succeeded.

"Has met her, Sir Adrian?" Madame set up with a real look of interest in her face.

"Oh, there's a lot of this story you don't know," he laughed grimly.

"I've never told you that even Mrs. Holden was an old friend of mine. Only I knew her as Mrs. Winchell."

George looked her bewilderment, and Shale told her the story of Miss Winchell and the vagabond gang at Grantwick.

"And now, Mrs. Given, you and I are going to connive in an innocent little deception," he concluded. "For the time being, Doris shall be my protégée, as well as yours. We can honestly tell your husband I knew her—in better circumstances—and that will explain my interest in her."

She shall go to Grantwick as a friend of mine and get well—and you can visit her there when you like. And in the meanwhile we'll see how things turn out."

Madame did not notice the thoughtful look on his face as he uttered those last words. That he wished to marry Doris was one of the few details he omitted from his story of the beggars that came to the town of Grantwick.

"I agree willingly," George said. "Sir Adrian, you are indeed a wonderful man."

He smiled enigmatically. "You never know where this little drama of ours may lead us," he said.

There came a knock at the door, and dapper little Mr. Given put his head into the room.

"O, I'm sorry, I was not certain if you were still engaged," he apologized.

Shale took the situation in hand. "Your husband, is it not?" he questioned George. "Mr. Given, your wife and I are discussing Doris Winchell. A faint flush spread over the little man's cheeks. "I have just surprised Mrs. Given in telling her Miss Winchell is an old acquaintance of mine, who has, as they say, known better days. I was explaining I want her to go down to stay with my sister when she is well enough, and Mrs. Given was telling me of the kind interest you had taken in her."

"I feel myself rather to blame—about Miss Winchell," Matthew Given said, in an embarrassed way.

"About her running away? O, no Mr. Given," Shale replied nobly. "I can guess pretty well why she went. It was because she saw me here when I called a little time ago on business connected with your wife's sister. That's the reason I am to blame if any one. The poor girl didn't want to come face to face with me. You see, Mrs. Winchell knew my late wife slightly, and both she and Doris had been to my house at Grantwick."

Given was both surprised and relieved.

Shale went on breezily. "I'm asking Mrs. Given to be good enough to look after Miss Winchell until she's able to travel, and she's kindly consented to do so."

"Of course, of course. We will do all we can," said poor Given, who, well conscious of the enormous relief he was bringing to George.

For half an hour the three of them discussed Doris in the most natural way, and when Shale had gone Matt Given commented to his wife: "Sir Adrian seems a kind and thoughtful man, my dear. But what a strange story about the little Winchell. We certainly must do all we can for her."

"Indeed we will, Matt," George said.

It requires just as much knowledge and skill to make a pair of glasses correctly as it does to make a correct examination of the eye.

WOOD'S FUNERAL PLANS COMPLETED

Washington, August 8.—(AP)—Plans for the funeral of Major General Leonard Wood, who died at his home in Arlington National cemetery by the side of comrades he commanded in the war with Spain.

The burial plot, selected today by Major General Frank McIntyre, chief of the army's bureau of insular affairs, is situated on a small, small overlooking the Arlington amphitheater and adjoins the grave of Admiral Sampson, one of America's outstanding naval commanders in the days of 38.

Arrangements for the burial were completed late in the day after the arrival in the capital of Brigadier General Frank B. McCoy, close friend of the late general, who took personal charge of the arrangements at the request of Mrs. Wood.

The burial section is known as the "Rough Riders" plot, having been set aside by the war department for members of famous regiments which fought in the Spanish-American war. Wood commanded with the late President Roosevelt's second in command.

At Union station it will be met by a larger military escort composed of units hastily mustered into a skeleton regiment from posts near Washington. While many regulations call for an escort of a full regiment for an officer of Wood's rank, the actual number of troops in the funeral procession will be less than the required number of troops in the funeral procession.

She is survived by her husband, John D. Chambliss; three brothers, Virgil Jones, John Jones, of Memphis, Tenn., and William Jones, of Rome, Ga., and two sisters, Mrs. J. E. McElroy, of Norcross, Ga., and Mrs. Mack Brown, of Atlanta.

Funeral service for Mrs. Lena J. Chambliss, 53, of 641 Rosalia street, who died Monday morning at the residence following a stroke of paralysis, will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the chapel of the T. C. Bazemore company. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Holland Is Placed On Trial at Cochran In Slaying of King

Cochran, Ga., August 8.—(AP)—Cleveland Holland, charged with the slaying of Lee A. King, July 1, went on trial today in the Blackley superior court.

Holland is charged with shooting King to death on one of the principal business streets here, while the man was returning from a baseball game.

According to the story of witnesses today Holland is alleged to have approached King and when the two men came together drew two pistols from his pockets and emptied both in the body of King, killing him instantly.

The most of the trial during the day was consumed with the taking of testimony following the selection of a jury.

Several of the witnesses stated that the slaying was precipitated by an old feud between the two men.

Judge Eschel Graham, of the Oconee circuit, is hearing the case which is being conducted by Solicitor General M. H. Boyer for the state who is assisted by the law firm of Blackley and McWhorter and W.
